

NCCW Leadership Training Development Program

The Knoxville Diocesan Council of Catholic Women invited members of the NCCW Leadership Training Development (LTD) team to present at our annual convention in 2010 held in Lenoir City. KDCCW is fortunate to be one of many programs presented around the nation since the program was introduced. Topics, interactive exercises and ideas shared in the varied presentations are always timely for council use throughout our diocese.

Following are some suggestions to use in continuing to benefit from the program presented in 2010.

- Review presentation materials and notes from the LTD program to reassess as guides and to inspire activities for current planning and use.
- Dedicate one or more meetings around discussion of notes, sharing of comments and reflection on which tips from the LTD training that have been implemented to date.
- Choose 1 or 2 more ideas to implement.
- Brainstorming can be great fun, invites participation from all, and is a wonderful way to look forward to building a future for council.
- Recreate some of the interactive exercises from the LTD presentations.
- Ask members to bring other articles, ideas and suggestions to share with council members.
- Enjoy the time together as members offer experiences, talents, enthusiasm and interests to enrich and enhance council activities.

Two of the NCCW LTD Program creators and team presenters are past KDCCW Presidents – Jane Carter and Suzanne Erpenbach. LTD team members value comments and continued communications. Each program is unique and different to reflect consideration of the pre-assessment notes received from the council and individuals in the hosting area. The LTD program has over fifty topic areas in its curriculum to offer, with new materials continually added to further enhance topic presentations.

To schedule a program, contact either Suzanne or Jane for more information.